MUSIC, which occupies a prominent place in the current topic club's programs, held the interest of the members when they met yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence of 810 East Center street, for their annual musicale.

A large number of guests joined the members for the program which was in the form of a recital by Miss Lawrence and Mrs. Harry T. Williams, pianists, assisted by Mrs. Audrey Abbot Lawrence of Harpater, dramatic soprano.

The program hour opened with an original poem by Miss Lawrence. The opening piano group included "Wait in A Major," Brahms, "Ave Maria," Bach-Gounod, and "Ah, l'enfant si digne," Pachelbel, and "Prelude in G Minor," Bach-Bayer.

Mrs. Lawrence chose for her first group two numbers from Handel's "The Messiah," "He Shall Feed His Flocks," and "Come Unto Him All Ye That Labor."

The second group by Mrs. Lawrence and Mr. Williams was made up of "March of the Puppets," Louis Sugarmen, "Down South," William H. Mydleton, "Crab Song," MacPadden-Saunders, "Carnival Procession," Ernesto Larcena, and "Flight of the Bumble Bee," Rimsky-Korsakov. Mrs. Lawrence's second group included "Ah, Love But a Day," Protheroe and "Ma Curly Headed Baby," Schubert. The pianists closed the program with a set of numbers descriptive of life in the eighteenth century, "In Washington's Day," arranged by George Helen Nash.

The club members responded to roll call with brief events in the lives of the composers whose numbers were played, and interesting quotations concerning music.

Officers for the club season of 1934-35 were named during a short business session following the musicale. They are: Mrs. Arthur W. Bacon, president; Miss Lawrence, vice president; Mrs. Harry Dunham, recording secretary; Mrs. F. F. Nichols, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. M. Howard, treasurer; and Mrs. D. W. Mahaffey, critic.

DOROTHY FULDHIM of Cleveland, widely known lecturer who was in Marion several years ago on a Harding High school entertainment course, will be brought here again on Feb. 18 by the Marion Association of University Women. This time she will talk on "European Merry-Go-Round."

Altrusa Club Members Hear Book Review

ONE of the most interesting meetings of the year for members of the Altrusa club was held last evening at Ringer's Inn, when Mrs. Everett Grigsby reviewed "Silas Crockett" by Mary Ellen Chase. The program hour was preceded by a dinner at which covers were laid for the members and three guests, Mrs. Lott Bechtel of Lewisburg, Pa., Mrs. Faye West and Mrs. Ade Lippincott.

Mrs. Grigsby described the Chase novel as a current best seller and the story of four generations of a seafaring Maine family from 1830 to 1930. The characters include Captain Silas Crockett of the clipper "Southern Star," his son, Nicholas, who had a less glorious but happy life aboard a schooner; his grandson, Rauben, who must content himself with a passenger steamer; and finally his great-grandson, Silas II, who as times grow hard, must work in a herring factory. Equally as interesting are the lives of the Crockett women. Mrs. Grigsby brought out, in spite of the sadness wrought by time the lives of the Crocketts are rules by delicacy and fineness of feeling, together with native strength.

The book is marked with rich human understanding, humor mixed with sadness and is an authentic history of life in Maine. Mrs. Grigsby told her audience. The author was born in Elm Hill, Me., and is now an associate professor in Smith college.

Questions and answers on "What We Should Know" were given in response to roll call. Mrs. Minnie Rayl gave a report of the board meeting of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs, and during the business session a contribution was made to the free clinic at the City hospital. Refreshments were served in a social hour from a table lighted with tall tapers in silver holders.

The hostess was assisted by Miss Maxine Lusch and Miss Eva Longacre. Guests were Mrs. A. J. Sautter, Mrs. Clara Hildreth and Miss Ethel McKinley.

Win Awards at J. and T. Club Meeting. Mrs. L. R. Bechtel and Mrs. Ray L. Martin were awarded honors for high scores in cards at a meeting of the J. and T. club last evening at the home of Mrs. Marion Landau of David street. Refreshments served during a social hour, were in keeping with St. Valentine's day. A meeting Feb. 3 will be with Mrs. W. E. Smith of Windsor street.

Three Arts Club Plans Guest Day. Mrs. L. H. Ford and Mrs. Charles Baldwin were co-hostesses to members of the Three Arts club yesterday afternoon at Ringer's Inn. Nineteen members responded to roll call with names of beauty spots in Ohio. A contribution of five dollars was made to the free dispensary at the City hospital, and plans were made for a guest day party Feb. 18 at Hotel Marion. Two papers, "Places of Historical Interest in Ohio," by Mrs. Fred Oster and "Ohio Artistic," by Mrs. Lawrence Sager, made up the program hour. A meeting Feb. 4 will be with Mrs. C. R. Levens of Cleveland avenue.

Seaside Club Meets for Program. The singing of a group of old familiar songs opened a program meeting of the Seaside club Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Robson on East Center street. TOOTH ANESTHETIC FORMULA OFFERED

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Jan. 22—A Columbia University dentist professor last night gave to the world what he called his formula for a pain killer for teeth—the result of two years' research.

The new treatment, Dr. Leroy L. Hartman told the New York First and Second District Dental societies, will permit dental drilling into a tooth and the filling of the cavity without pain.

Don't try to use the mixture for toothache at home, he warned; there is danger of severe burn unless it is properly administered.

Three simple materials make up the new desensitizer—ether, ethyl alcohol and thymol.

JUDGING TEAMS TO ENTER EVENTS

Warner Mercer, Don Steen, Robert Ferguson, and Wayne McWhorter are members of the apple judging team of the Marion Future Farmers of America. A. conference to be held at the Ohio State university during Farmers' week.

SELF-DEATH PLOT LINKED TO TRAGEDY

Officials Study Possibility Plane Passenger Was Bent on Killing Himself.

By The Associated Press
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 22—Investigators studying meager clues in the crash of the transcontinental plane, "Southerner," in Arkansas considered today the possibility a passenger bent on self-destruction caused the tragedy.

C. R. Smith, president of the American Air Lines, operators of the liner in which 17 lives were lost last Tuesday, said in Chicago this was "one of many theories."

The development came while inspectors weighed the importance of an automatic pistol found in the wreckage of the huge craft near Goodwin, Ark.

It was theorized a passenger—temporarily deranged or planning to commit suicide without inviting his insurance—slugged the pilot and co-pilot, causing the plane to plunge out of control.

Smith said he was convinced the plane was "in good flying condition," and the pilot was not endeavoring to land.

The Dallas, Texas, News reported one of the passengers tried to buy an additional $25,000 in insurance after boarding the plane in the east.

Smith said, however, he had no way of learning the amount of insurance carried by passengers.

He said: "A third body, other than those of the pilot and co-pilot, was found in the forward part of the wreckage ahead of the two pilots."

Britain's New King Was Active on War Front

Went to Battlefields as Staff Officer During 4 Years of Big Conflict.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Jan. 22—In the grand old days of English history, warrior princes came to Britain's throne. Having led the armed forces of the kingdom in battle, they felt qualified to govern the kingdom for which they had fought. In those old chivalrous days the kings were not only rulers of the country; they were the first warriors of the land.

Today a king sits on the throne of England who approximates in some measure that high ideal. He ran with justice he called a warrior king, for he spent four years of his life, from 1914 to 1918, on many battlefields. He is the first British monarch since George II, British monarch in 1743, to take part in armed conflict.

He revisited the William the Conqueror, Henry II, Edward I, Edward III and Henry V, who led the chivalry of England against France until the little Kingdom of England had absorbed the three first and was secure from attack from the east.

Was 20 Years Old
The Prince of Wales, now king of England, was 20 years old when war broke out. He immediately left his round of social pleasures and duties, and went to the battlefronts.

He was almost 25 when he left the scene of conflict, having spent four years amid the horrors of war. Almost every battlefield saw his slim, boyish uniformed figure. He was behind the lines in France, Italy and in far-away Africa.

The former prince's greatest disappointment was that he was not permitted to take actual part in the conflict. It is reported that he protested against this fact to his superior officers. He believed that if he were permitted to go that if he were the ordinary over the top with the soldiers, the "Tommys," it would solidify the nation behind the House of Windsor.

At times, when the former prince's duties carried him close to the front lines, he was in no little danger. On one occasion a shell exploded only a short distance away, covering him and his party with dirt.

The young royal hero's presence behind the lines was of great value to the soldierly fighting to stem the steady progress of the Germans. The new king was constantly on the go, visiting hospitals, greeting soldiers, conferring honors. He did much to keep the fighting spirit alive in the Tommy's breast. Tommy knew that his prince was undergoing in some smaller measure some of the discomforts and privations he himself was experiencing.

Proved His Worth
The prince came out of the war a far stronger figure than when he had entered it. He had proved to the nation that the House of Windsor was inextricably linked up with its fortunes. He had demonstrated the interest of England's royal house in the empire.

Since the war the prince has, therefore, naturally been the leader in all ex-soldier movements. He is head of the great T. O. M. H., the British equivalent of the American Legion. Once each year, at the annual celebration, he relights the torch of remembrance—a light constantly kept burning in a London church as a memorial of England's part in the World war.

How universal is the prince's standing in this respect may be seen from the fact that several New York regiments have sent him their colors.

GOLF GREEN DOCTOR

As a professional doctor of golf greens, John Montello Jr. arch enemy is fairway weeds. Montello's special job is to develop better golfing greens and more efficient means of killing weeds. He has an office in the U. S. department of agriculture in Washington, but the U. S. Golf association pays the expense. If Montello can develop a new kind of grass suitable for greens in three years he considers himself lucky. His most recent discovery was a chemical combination which will kill weeds but not harm grass. It is still in the experimental stage, he says. Color is important in grass for golf courses. Golfers seem to prefer a bright green grass to the more subdued shades.

Colorful Uniforms for Diamond
Urged to Attract Feminine Fans

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 22.—George
M. (Red) Trautman, new president of the American association, said today that the league is going to give the fans a "break" this year.

"It's time we started thinking more about the customers," Trautman said.

"Baseball games are getting too drab," he said, "and we're going to speed them up."

"I've ordered a clock placed in every association park, right out where the fans and players can see it."

"Another thing we need is more color—not only in the players themselves, but in the uniforms they wear. One reason we should have more colorful and attractive uniforms is because more and more we are catering to women fans."

"We also need stronger 'knothole' gangs throughout the league, for after all the kids, from whom the teams draw their talent, are entitled to something. Knothole gangs are real character builders."

"In making the game more attractive for the fan, we will be doing plenty for baseball too. We have our dyed-in-the-wool fans but it's the 'in-betweeners' that we are after. Once we get them there it's our own fault if we can't bring them back."

Trautman said he will frown on "synthetic" double-headers, but that the final decision will be left up to the clubs.

this season than ever before," Trautman said.

INDIANS WON'T SELL
VOSMIK, AVERILL

Bratley Refuses Offer of New York Yankees; Tribes'
Losses $241,000.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 22.—Earl Averill and Joe Vosmik won't be sold to the New York Yankees, said Alva Bradley, Cleveland Indians'
president, today. The Yankees made a lucrative cash offer for the pair recently, he said.

"None of our players are on the market, except in the sense that we would make a trade which would be sure to help us," said Bradley.

The Tribe's president said he happened to tell the Yankee management that the Indians had lost $231,000 in eight years' operations.

"Joe McCarthy asked if I would like to turn that loss into a profit," Bradley said. "I asked how and he said, 'by selling us Vosmik and Averill.' I believe I could have gotten much more for Vosmik and Averill if I had been willing to sell to the Yankees, but I made it clear that I wasn't."

AMATEUR BOXERS
THROUGHOUT MARION
DISTRICT TO MEET

Elimination Bout to Start at 8 O'Clock at Shovel Gymnasium.

Thirty-five amateur boxers from Marion and all parts of this district today were awaiting the opening bell which will start Marion's second annual Golden Gloves tournament at 8 o'clock tonight at the Shovel gymnasium.

Their bid for fame through the Golden Gloves competition will be made when they face each other in the elimination and succeeding rounds of the amateur ring event.

Thirty-five boxers were to invade Marion this afternoon to attend weighing in ceremonies and undergo physical examinations at the Y. M. C. A.

The fighters were to be paired with respective opponents after weighing in at 6 o'clock. With a brief rest of several hours they will be able to refresh themselves before going into the ring at the gymnasium tonight.

Several hundred persons are expected to attend the elimination round which will consist of approximately 10 fights. Opening activity will center around the lightweight division of the tournament. Eight entrants have signed for participation in the 135-pound class and officials said that four of the fights tonight would bring together contestants in that class.

With six entries in the 160-pound division, at least two and perhaps three of the opening bouts were to bring together boxers in that class.
The remainder of the fight card probably will consist of one bout each in the 147 and 160 pound divisions.

Winners of the rounds tonight, together with fighters entered in the other divisions, will return to the Shovel gymnasium tomorrow night for the second round of the tournament. The final round of the tourney is to be held next week. Gold and silver charms will be awarded the winners and runners-up at the completion of their matches.

The number of rounds for each elimination bout was to be determined this afternoon when ring officials were to meet to iron out last minute details. Tentative arrangements were to have opening bouts consist of three two-minute rounds, and semi-final and final matches increased to five rounds.

NEW RESERVOIR MOVE STARTED

Sen Bulkley Proposes Modified Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy Program

ESTIMATED AT $7,830,400

Reservoir Suggested for Near Delaware, Another Near Upper Sandusky

A new effort was under way today to obtain federal funds to finance a modified conservancy program for the Scioto and Sandusky river valleys.

News released from Washington reported Senator Robert S. Bulkley of Cleveland has proposed the modified program to make a part of the rivers and harbors flood control bill.

The proposal would authorize construction of four reservoirs including two near Marion at a total cost of $7,830,400. One would be known as the Sandusky reservoir near Upper Sandusky to cost $1,621,400 and another would be known as the Bellepoint reservoir near Delaware to cost $1,051,000.

W. D. Brown, secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce and the chamber chairman informed today that the federal government is planning to make a permanent type for the 12th works program. This he said was taken as an indication that the Scioto-Sandusky project might receive favorable attention. He said he communicated with W. E. Marlin of Upper Sandusky, one of three directors of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district and urged him to seek federal support of the project at once.

The four reservoirs represent a modification of the extensive program the Scioto-Sandusky district has been sponsoring. The original proposal called for construction of 10 reservoirs on the Scioto and Sandusky rivers and their tributaries.

So far as benefits in Marion and nearby counties are concerned the modified program would be nearly equal of the original program. The principal changes having been made in the dropping of proposed reservoirs at points along the rivers Mr. Brown said.

Senator Bulkley's proposal to make the program a part of the rivers and harbors flood measure sets forth that a survey by the army engineers has been completed and that the full data is in the office of the chief of engineers but that no report has been made to congress on the survey.

Only a mile from the pomp and pageantry of the succession proclamations under the ancient rafters of Westminster hall workmen prepared and for the return tomorrow of King George to lie in state at the place where seven months ago he received the jubilee congratulations of parliament.

Thence the body will be removed to Windsor castle just west of London for funeral services next Tuesday in St. George's chapel and burial with others of the long line of English kings at Windsor.

IMMEDIATE PAYOFF OF BONUS APPROVED

dicted flatly the bill will become law whether or not Mr. Roosevelt signs it.

It provides for payment of additional service certificates of $300,000 World war veterans in $30 bonds starting June 15. Veterans preferring to hold the certificates would draw 3 percent interest annually from June 15, 1937 to June 15, 1945.

The vote was a mere formality. It came on a motion by Chairman Doughton, Democrat of North Carolina, of the ways and means committee to concur in a senate amendment embracing the bond payment method to a cash payment bill which cleared the house by a vote of one margin in the opening 100 of the session.

An hour's debate preceded the final vote after Doughton had obtained unanimous consent for the bill's consideration.

The senate to-morrow plan was in the form of an amendment to a cash payment bill passed by a huge majority a week after congress convened.

The house chamber filled rapidly as Rep. Vernon, Democrat of Kentucky, who introduced the house bill with the backing of leading veterans' organizations, began explaining differences between the senate and house legislation.

Three courses of action will be open to the executive. He can sign it, bill thereby enabling the veterans to cash $300 government bonds at local postoffices on June 15.

He can veto it whereupon it would go back to congress and a two-thirds vote of each house would be necessary to make it a law.

He can do nothing. In that case the bill automatically would become law at the end of a 10-day period.

Many legislators believed he would either sign or veto because early in his administration he opposed the third procedure on principle with relation to a bill dealing with another subject.

However, a group of legislators including some of his advisers of the administration were studying the idea of making an appeal to the president to take the third course. They were said to feel that a bill they introduced over-riding a veto might do damage to the popular standing of the president.

Also if the president should sign it, he would be liable to become law many of his legislative supporters would be relieved of the embarrassment which would ensue if he vetoed the bill and they voted to override.

Bonus leaders expressed no concern over the vote. They pointed to the fact that the senate passed the bill 74 to 16 and the house had approved a similar measure 346 to 98. Both majorities were well over two-thirds.

EDWARD MAY SEEK CLOSER U. S. BOND

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Diplomatic sources said today they expected King Edward VIII to encourage closer collaboration between Great Britain and the United States in world affairs.

The monarch was expected in these quarters to make some public manifestation of a new era of friendship with the United States after he has adjusted himself to his new tasks.

King Edward counts among his ultimate friends a wide circle of Americans in all stations of life. It was in South America that Edward first said definitely that he was going to be king bachelor king.

This was during his tour of South America in 1921 with his brother, the Duke of Kent.

To one group of friends Edward said: "I'll become king though I frankly enjoy life just as I am. I am going to be king bachelor king. I have no present intention of marrying at all."

And you may take it that my people and my country will know I am their king—I'll give everything I have to the throne and all it means to my people.

SQUIRE'S CHILD TELLS OF MOTHER'S DEATH

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—Squire James J. Westwood's attorneys wound up the odds and ends of their testimony today, an anti-climax to the wistful testimony of their surprise witness, 12-year-old Martha Westwood.

The little daughter of the Michigan Rocks justice of the peace accused of slaying his wife told the story of her mother's death so dramatically two women members of the jury wept.

Child suddenly to the stand she told how Westwood came home early in the morning of last July and faintly after seeing his wife took. Then Martha described her father's next action.

He held me in his arms and said I should have been done to me. You need your mother more than I.

WATSON SAYS OHIO ARMORY WORK 'OUT'

Claims Type of Labor Unavailable Couldn't Be Finished by Next June 30

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O. Jan. 22.—Dr. Carl Wat of Ohio works progress administrator said today Ohio's $100,000 armory construction and improvement program appeared to be definitely out.

It looks like the program in the main is out at least under the WPA program, Watson said. He cited three reasons: (1) The type of labor required is not available; (2) it is unlikely projects could be completed before June 30; and (3) operation would call for withdrawal of too much money from other WPA projects in Ohio where the main labor costs is within accepted restriction.

The program would have provided 21 emergency reconstruction buildings at Camp Perry and improvements to seven armories. The program included projects in Kenton and Gallon.

MARION GROUP AT DAIRY CONVENTION

Former Local Manager Gives Talk on Inspection, Advocates New Legislation

A large group of Marion dairy men attended the nineteenth annual convention of the Ohio Dairy Products association in Toledo which closed its three-day session today.

One of the principal speakers at yesterday's session was L. L. Montel of Columbus, former manager of the Marion branch of the Moores & Ross Milk Co. Mr. Montel was transferred from here a number of years ago and is now in charge of all milk buying for the Columbus branch of the company. He spoke on inspection from the standpoint of the dairy industry and suggested a drive be made for a state inspection code governing sanitation and quality of dairy products. He advocated sending such a proposal before the next general assembly according to an Associated Press report of the meeting.

Criticism of the pending Carey-Creevey bill in the state assembly for the institution of state milk control on a public utility basis was voiced by Arnold A. Muenzer of Toledo president of the association.

Among those from Marion at the convention were James Dixon, John Murphy and Robert Snyder of the Moores & Ross Milk Co. and Mr. and Mrs. Denzer Isaly and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Denzer Martin. Also present were Herman Greenbaum, Carl Millisor, Robert Pence, Marion McKeever, Walter Davis, Howard Bailey and Gene Corrigan from the Isaly Dairy Co.
